

Hi Family,

I have been meaning to write this message for quite some time. Luckily, the opportunity has presented itself today!

I would like to introduce you all to someone who I have the privilege of counting as a close confidant and mentor, although he is most widely known as an educator and orator. For years, I have known the immense gift it is to have such a formidable academic in my midst and I believe his expertise can be of great aid to companies and individual professionals alike. His professional and academic focus go beyond clinical psychology. I would describe him as an expert in intercultural & intergenerational interaction. Naturally, his intellectual prowess would have served him sufficiently in climbing the proverbial ladder as he planned out his career, but the thing that set Dr. Smedley apart was his remarkable ability to profoundly comprehend the inferred. Often when we communicate with one another, so much gets lost in translation. This can create conflict even in the simplest of interactions. Professionally, this can create nightmare scenarios for those of you in leadership roles.

Fortunately, Dr. Smedley has an uncanny ability to empathetically pick up on all manner of nuanced inflection that one may have hoped would communicate one's intended meaning, when words do not suffice.

Dr. Smedley may wield these skills professionally as proficiently as Hephaestus wields a hammer, but the greatest of his qualities I have yet to mention. All his talents combined would be useless to most, if not paired with wisdom. Dr. Smedley is the personification of wisdom.

As you all know, I am not one to loosely bestow compliments upon the undeserving; this gentleman is more than deserving of my praises. I hope you have the opportunity to meet him.

Currently, he is offering consulting services for companies looking to foster growth, resilience, successful communication and cooperative work environments.

Recently, he has been requested specifically to assist in Diversity & Inclusion workshops, Mental Health in the Workplace discussions and varying topics that are of great interest in 2020.

I wish you all good health during these unprecedented times. I hope to see you all soon, even if we have to social distance to say hi 😊

Best,

Mo.
